RE: Saving Water with Pivot Irrigation featuring Dragon-Line
FOR RELEASE: IMMEDIATELY

Dragon-Line $1000 Credit Giveaway at 3i SHOW

DODGE CITY – Dragon Line, LLC is “Transforming Pivot Irrigation through Drip Technology” and wants to help one lucky 3i SHOW attendee do the same by offering a $1000 Credit Towards a Complete System or Filtration Assembly. Registrations will be accepted beginning 9 a.m. opening day, Thursday, March 21, and one winner will be drawn on Saturday, March 23, at 11 a.m. in the Dragon-Line booth I-202.

Dragon-Line is available through local pivot dealers all over the USA, and saves producers 20-50% of water usage, bringing precision irrigation to precision farming.

Dragon-Line is “the orange dripline tubing” with pressure compensating emitters spaced every 6” or 12” that are welded to the internal wall of the dripline and fully operational at 5 psi. A 10’ Dragon Flex Hose attaches to the irrigation pivot drops or manifold to ensure no kinking while reversing in the dripline. Emitting a uniform water pattern as it drags across the soil surface, thus the name “Dragon-Line”, greatly reduces water evaporation from wind drift and allows deeper percolation to the plant’s root zone where it is needed most. Driplines are spaced between 20”-80” lateral lines, depending on the soil type and crop.

Saving water is not the only benefit. Dragon-Line can reduce or eliminate wheel track issues, allow possible winter watering without ice accumulation on pivot, eliminates leaf burn, plant shock from sudden temperature changes, reduces the potential for plant diseases, and allows liquid fertilizers to be applied directly on the soil instead of the plant. Benefits continue to emerge as Dragon-Line is used in diverse production areas.
