3i SHOW Space Number: I-294

Come to 3i SHOW booth I-294 and meet the people behind the scenes who collect weather observations and provide forecasts and warnings for southwest Kansas. National Weather Service staff members will be available throughout the 3i SHOW to provide information about meteorological phenomena as well as the science and art involved with forecasting weather in the central United States. Anyone who would like to share a story about his experience with weather events or who would like to ask questions about the weather is encouraged to stop and visit with the real people who are responsible for forecasts and warnings in southwestern Kansas. Suggestions are welcome on how weather services can be improved and how we can help each person become more resilient to the vagaries of weather. Real time reports are essential to provision of the best possible forecasts and warnings, and anyone willing to share his contact information is strongly encouraged to do so. Any contact data will be used only within the Dodge City National Weather Service Office and will not be distributed to any other entity.

A drawing will be held each day for a professional quality rain gauge. Information about becoming a part of the Community Collaborative Rain, Hail and Snow Network will be available, and applications will be provided to individuals who would like to participate in this voluntary weather reporting network.
